

“It is beyond my reasoning to understand today's cultural perspective. There was a time when we didn't know the truth about abortion, but that time is over.

It's indisputable that not only does life begin at fertilization, but that same life is of human origin. Intentionally killing human life has always been defined as murder, I find abortion no different.

The argument has been won, yet we still allow children to be slaughtered every day without even flinching. My heart has been wrecked for these little ones and I feel it is our moral duty as Americans to push against the abortion industry until every single child is protected. I fully support Indiana's Protection at Conception bill!

-Amy Schlichter

Founder and Executive Director of Hoosiers for Life